Cybersecurity experts to discuss legal implications of data exploitation

Cleveland, Ohio – With the spotlight on the surprising ways platforms like Facebook are using your data, the Cleveland Metropolitan Bar Association has assembled a panel of leading experts to shed light on how your organization can be affected. Our panelists will explore what this means as technology continues to advance at our upcoming Hot Talks live discussion on June 12th. Audience participation is encouraged as a model for civil discourse in the community.

This hour-long discussion is free, open to the public. No RSVP required.

When: Tuesday, June 12th from 12 p.m. – 1 p.m.
Where: CMBA Conference Center, 1375 E. 9th Street, 2nd Floor, Cleveland, OH 44114

Watch live on CMBA’s Facebook Page. | * One hour general CLE credit *

Topics Explored:

- Who is going after data and are you a target?
- How can your data be exploited?
- How does GDPR impact your organizations?
- Corporate approach to data protection and compliance – what you need to know.
- What does this mean for the future as technology continues to advance?

Panelists:

Bryan Smith has been employed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) since 2002 and currently serves as the Assistant Special Agent in Charge over the Cleveland Field Office’s Cyber Criminal, Healthcare Fraud, Organized Crime, Public Corruption, Technical, and White Collar Crime programs. Previously, he was the Unit Chief of the FBI’s Financial Institution Fraud Unit, responsible for the oversight of the FBI’s national Asset Forfeiture, Bank Fraud, Identity Theft, Intellectual Property Rights, Money Laundering, and Mortgage Fraud programs.

Aaron Mendelsohn is the Chief Data Privacy Officer at Ingram Micro, Inc., a global distributor and reseller of technology products. At Ingram Micro Aaron has responsibility for ensuring personal data of employees, customers, resellers, and vendors is protected and processed in compliance with global data protection laws. Prior to joining Ingram Micro Aaron was in private legal practice with Benesch, Friedlander, Coplan & Aronoff LLP where he focused on matters related to data security and privacy compliance, as well as general technology and intellectual property issues.
Emily Knight is a member of the Tucker Ellis Trial Department. Emily gained valuable experience while working as a summer associate at Tucker Ellis for two years. She assisted with product liability and employment litigation matters. Before attending law school, Emily taught kindergarten at a Cleveland charter school as a Teach For America corps member. She is involved in the local Teach For America alumni group and volunteers in local schools.
